WAILUKU CONDOLENCE

At a meeting of the Wailuku residents held in the Court House on Thursday evening, March 9, 1899, Judge John W. Kalua was elected chairman and Jas. N. K. Keola, secretary. Messrs. Geo. Hous, Geo. B. Robertson and Jno. Richardson were appointed a committee to draft resolutions of condolence to be forwarded to the father and relatives of the late Princess Kaiulani, and the following resolutions formulated by the committee were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, once more "the silver cord has been loosed and the golden bowl has been broken," and Hawaii noi stands weeping once more over the loss of one of her most loved alii, called to a higher and better life, while her earthly life was yet in its bloom, and shedding fragrance over the hearts and lives of not only her own people, but also of all elsewhere who have had the privilege of knowing and loving her;

Resolved, that in the untimely death of her late Royal Highness Princess Victoria Kaiulani, the Hawaiian people have lost one of the rarest and best types of noble Hawaiian womanhood, who alike adorned the character of friend, woman, and alii;

Resolved, that we, the residents of Wailuku, Maui, in common with all who knew and loved her, deeply mourn her loss, while we bow in humble submission to the will of an inscrutable Providence, who has called her to a better world;

Resolved, that we herewith offer to the bereaved family and relatives of the late Princess and to the Hawaiian people our tender and sincere condolence, with the assurance that her loss comes to each of us as a personal one and touches our hearts so keenly that we would fain mingle our tears with those of her best loved ones;

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the father of the late Princess.
JOHN W. KALUA,
Chairman.
Committee: GEO. HON,
GEO. B. ROBERTSON,
JOHN RICHARDSON.

Attest:
JAS. KEOLA,
Secretary.
It was also voted that the secretary furnish the press with copies of these resolutions. The meeting then adjourned.

ITEMS OBTAINED.

Which Should Have Appeared in Report of Kaiulani Obsequies.

Partly from oversight, but chiefly from lack of space, some items were omitted in the report of princess Kaiulani's funeral.

Major G. C. Porter of the President's staff was Marshal of the Day, aided by Major C. P. Iaukea, Capt. J. W. Pratt and Capt. W. Chancy Wilder. This detail was mounted.

The St. Louis College boys were led by J. C. Crowder Jr. in the Kaiulani funeral procession. At their head were borne the college colors, between the American and Hawaiian flags, all furled and draped with mourning.

Comparisons cannot fairly be made between the funeral of Sunday and previous royal funerals in Honolulu. Circumstances made changes in some of the component elements, including that of the display of kahlia. There is no question, however, that never were there larger crowds than Sunday gathered along the streets.

Mrs. John F. Colburn was the artificer of the floral kahlia carried in the funeral procession. They were a novelty of sympathetic taste and greatly admired.

St. Andrew's Priory tutors and pupils, dressed in white, marched with the other schools mentioned. King Kalakaua's coffin in the mausoleum is second on the right from the entrance. It is covered with a magnificent pall of royal purple, richly embroidered with the insignia of the last king of Hawaii.

Next farther up is the coffin of Princess Poomaikelani, sister of Queen Dowager Kapiolani. It is also richly draped.

Princess Likelike, mother of Kaiulani, lies in the middle of a row of coffins at the head of the mausoleum. Its decorations were described in the report of the funeral.

On the left side five coffins contain members of the Young family, the paternal branch of Queen Emma's ancestors.

PRINCESS KAIULANI

Into the shadowy valley
Thou hast gone on before;
Our eyes are aching,
Our hearts are breaking,
We ne'er shall see thee more—
Kaiulani.

Into the shadowy valley
We may not follow yet:
Earth still must hold us
Till night enfold us
And quench our regret—
Kaiulani.

Into the shadowy valley
Fain would we follow thee;
To hear thy story—
To share thy glory—
Thy happiness to see
Kaiulani.

Into the shadowy valley
Our longing gaze we strain;
We see the dawning
Of Heaven's morning
Beyond the mists and rain
Kaiulani.

Into the shadowy valley thee
Soon, soon we'll follow;
From this death on earth
To that glad new birth
Beyond the crystal sea
Kaiulani.
